Thoughtful Address on Sino-Japanese Conflict

"Some Side-Lights of the Sino-Japanese Conflict" was the subject of a very thoughtful and well delivered address given by John M. Imrie, managing director of the Edmonton Journal, at the Board of Trade luncheon Monday evening. At the outset, Mr. Imrie stated it was almost impossible for an accidental to discuss oriental problems, and disclaimed any right to speak with authority, but as chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegates a few months ago, he came in contact with many men in the business and political life of that country and the address gave impressions received at that time.

Mr. Imrie stated that Japan proper consisted of four main islands and about four hundred smaller islands, the area being about one-third less than Alberta. Only 17% was arable land, yet the populations was 90 times that of Alberta, or about 65,000,000. This arable land is intensively cultivated and the average farm holding is only 3 acres, and half the population is urban. The population is increasing about one million a year, and the food supply is very acute. In 60 years the population developed from 30 to 65 million, and Japan has no precedent in manufacturing expansion in so short a time. Japan depends largely on foreign countries for markets, and her shipping is now rated in third place among the nations. The Japanese people are united in one race; they are intelligent, good readers, with strong national sentiment and imperialistic tendencies. Militarism is held in high esteem and it is the aim of glory to die in the service of the country.

The area of China is larger than either Canada or the United States and the population is estimated from 145,000,000 to 175,000,000. There are many diversities of dialect, and the transportation facilities are meagre, as there are less than 10,000 miles of railway and this is mostly in Manchuria. Illiteracy is estimated at 80 to 90% and there is one province of 72,000,000 which has no railway. Since 1911 China has been in a state of revolution, and the governments have been unable to rule China but only one has anything like recognition, and in the past decade individual generals have endeavored to control the situation and banditry has been rampant. The most of the Chinese are engaged in agriculture almost entirely in a primitive form and there is very little trading with foreign people. China is non-existent as a money power as compared with other countries.

Mr. Imrie then referred to Manchuria, stating that the area was two-thirds greater than Alberta. The soil and climate are conducive to growing soy beans, and other food stuffs grow more profitably than wheat. Some parts are heavily wooded, which is useful in manufacturing. Other areas are mountainous and have minerals useful in manufacturing of fertilizer. Manchuria has had great agricultural development during the past twenty years, and the total population is from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000, about 3,000,000 of which are Chinese. Manchuria has over one-third of the foreign trade of China. Mr. Imrie also referred to the treaties made by China and Russia and Japan, and spoke of the ambitions of both Japan and China to control the railway in Manchuria, which eventually resulted in clashes of these nations in diplomacy and policy. Japanese money built many industrial factories in Manchuria, which gave employment to Japanese and Chinese people, and in 1915, when other countries were engaged in war, Japan presented China with twenty-two demands, among them being agreements to extend the railway lease and the lease of other properties, which will expire in a few years, to almost a century hence.

Mr. Imrie concluded by giving what he considered some of the primary causes of the Sino-Japanese clash, among them being: First and fundamental is the racial antagonism between the Japanese and Chinese; instability of government in China; prevalence of massed banditry in Manchuria, which operated against life and property of the Japanese; building railways paralleling the railway in south Manchuria which was being constructed with the acquiescence and approval of the Chinese; losing influence in sections of the country; fear of Russia getting Manchuria owing to banditry; fear that her treaties with foreign countries would be abrogated as a result of certain feelings and agitations by strong factions opposed to the Japanese; boycott instituted in China against Japan resulting in Japan losing about one-fourth of its foreign trade; economic conditions in Japan created by loss of foreign trade and resultant unemployment.

Mr. Imrie then referred to the Japanese in Shanghai are now indefensible. Japan claims she is following the policy of the United States and Great Britain in other cases and there is considerable truth in this contention. As the party approached Vancouver, the Council for action. Mr. Wade will therefore conduct his last service in Immanuel Church on Sunday next.

A number of friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mellett on the evening of St. Patrick's Day, and surprised Mr. Mellett. The occasion was the 78th anniversary of his birthday, and at the luncheon which was served during the evening, a three-course dinner with seventy-eight courses was served. The evening was very enjoyable and prior to their departure, all joined in expressing the hope that Mr. Mellett would be spared many more years to enjoy continued good health and happiness.

Wetaskiwin's Finances Are In Excellent Condition

The following information respecting Wetaskiwin's financial position was forwarded to the Edmonton Journal recently by John E. Fraser, secretary-treasurer, and appeared in the issue of Friday last:

Collecting $7,000 more in tax arrears in 1931 than in 1930 and $1,600 more in 1931 collections than in the previous year, leaving a surplus at the end of the year of $12,351, this thriving Alberta centre is not worried, to any extent, by the so-called depression.

Spurred on by reports of other cities and towns in Alberta, Mr. Fraser says, in part:

"To show that Wetaskiwin is going strong, take the results of the last two months, January and February.

"Since January 1, $15,730 of current 1932 taxes have been collected and $2,100 of arrears, a total of $17,830 as against a total of $7,767 for the same period in 1931 showing an increase of over $10,000 collected this year through a circular letter being sent out offering an extra half of one per cent interest allowance for prepayment of this year's taxes.

"Receipts from licenses are over $500 more this year than last, and other receipts from rents, etc., are over previous years.

"Fourteen years ago the city debt was $538,000—it is now $204,395 less funds in the special trusts savings accounts of $48,855 kept for redeeming debentures as these become due, making the net debt of Wetaskiwin at the present date only $155,510 as against half a million dollars 14 years ago."

The secretary-treasurer of Wetaskiwin declares that the Red Deer hospital took care of 655 patients with 4,637 hospital days in 1931.

"Wetaskiwin had 727 patients with 5,728 hospital days," says Mr. Fraser, "the cost per hospital day in Wetaskiwin was $2.65."

"Wetaskiwin had a cash balance of over $927 with a savings account of accumulated surplus of $10,000 which with over $6,000 of equipment is to be used towards the erection of a new 30-bed hospital in Wetaskiwin this year which is to cost $40,000," he concluded.

A deputiation comprising Mayor Somers, Ald. French and Ald. Torsion went to Edmonton on Thursday last, and interviewed several government officials on several municipal matters. We understand the interviews were very satisfactory and that some contentious matters were satisfactorily settled.

President W. H. Odell was in the chair, and there was a good attendance considering the condition of the roads.

In addition to choosing a leader, the convention would formulate a new provincial policy and complete a new provincial organization.

It is expected that Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader, will be present as well as Hon. T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia leader; Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Saskatchewan Liberal leader and Mr. Kay, Manitoba Liberal leader.

It is expected that the convention will discuss a variety of resolutions and a tremendous amount of business will be transacted.

While it is too early to forecast the result of the convention insofar as the leadership is concerned, the most name that comes to mind is that of George H. Webster, Liberal house leader in the legislature; W. R. Howson, Liberal, Edmonton; and Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO RENDER AID

The Dominion Government will loan the prairie provinces $5,000,000 this year to enable destitute farmers to sow crops and care for their stock. Premier Bennett told the House of Commons recently. It will be part of the general unemployment scheme. Alberta will need about $140,000; Manitoba $700,000, and Saskatchewan the remainder.

WETASKIWIN SCHOOL FESTIVAL

Plans for the School Festival, to be held in Leduc on May 6th, are progressing. The program has been prepared and is now in the hands of the teachers. It is judged from current rumors that competition is going to be keen in the various classes.

The attractive list of trophies, medals and awards is tempting many schools to put forth every effort to carry off these prizes. Undoubtedly the Festival is doing much to encourage the development of pupils, and a wide public interest is being shown in the Wetaskiwin Festival.

Closely Contested Events Featured Wrestling Bouts

Edmonton grapplers under the coaching of Mike Cutcher, Y.M.C.A. and Mike Bilinsky of the Alberta Hotel club, were successful in winning the majority of the bouts in the northern Alberta elimination meet held in the Elks' Hall, Saturday evening, Leduc won two events.

The first and best bout of the evening was that of Karl Kosier and Frank Goodman of Edmonton. These two youths gave the fans a lot of thrills as they maulled each other for eight minutes before Kosier was successful in throwing Goodman in a body hold. Goodman, who is a new-comer to the mat game, gave Kosier plenty to worry about and at times it looked as though he would throw Kosier. At one time Goodman had Kosier in a toe hold but he managed to break it and it was only two minutes later when he won with the body hold.

In the second and third bout W. Pearson of the Alberta Hotel was successful in defeating Al Loutit of the Y.M.C.A. and Jack Gerry of the Alberta Hotel club. Both battles were closely contested and Pearson was given plenty of work before planning them to the ground.

In the semi-final of the 158-lbs. class J. Buzowicki was successful in pinning R. Shortridge of the Y. M. C. A. on the canvas after five minutes of mauling. Arthur Kaiser of Wetaskiwin defeated P. Meduc of Leduc, on a toe hold after five minutes of grappling in the other semi-final.

In the final of this class J. Buzowicki of the Alberta Hotel was winner, but he had a difficult task in disposing of Kaiser.

J. Danchuck of the Alberta Hotel defeated H. Maki of Falun in the semi-final of the 174-lb. class after less than seven minutes. Gil Knutson of the Y.M.C.A. won a hard fought battle from the Bilinsky in the final of this class. This ended after eight minutes when the "Y" grappler broke a hold of Danchuck and threw the latter in a body hold. This was a fast bout and got a big hand from the fans. In the heavyweight class, Pat Meehan was forced to accept a defeat at the hands of Fred Mix of Leduc, in short order.

With no one in his class to match him Emil Van Velzen challenged Fred Mix, and although the Leduc man outweighed him by 30 pounds, he maulled him all over the mat. The winners of the Wetaskiwin journey will now represent northern Alberta in the provincial finals to be held in Calgary at a later date.

Following is the full list of winners:

112 lbs.—John Kordyach, Leduc, won by default.

Alberta Legislative Assembly

(Interesting news letter from our Correspondent in the Press
Gallery, Parliament Buildings,

Edmonton, March 19.—Interest in the legislature this week has centered mainly around two debates, one on the income tax bill and the other on the proposed cuts in the indemnities of members.

Both have provoked lengthy discussions and at the time of writing have not yet been disposed of.

The week has seen George H.
Webster, veteran Liberal leader right back in his old form. He led the attack on the income tax bill and the strong support from W. R.
Howson and both the Labor and Conservative benches.

Mr. Webster went one better than Premier Brownlee's resolution proposing a cut of 10 per cent in the indemnities by moving an amendment putting the reduction at 25 per cent.
R. M. McCool, U.F.A., Cochrane,
then moved a subamendment to reduce all sessional indemnities to $1200 but with $600 for traveling expenses to rural members.

Mr. Webster pointed out that times were not normal and the speech from the throne had plainly said that members must do their share to help in retrenchment. The legislature was going to ask the people to assume severe tax burdens and it was only fair that members should set an example. He thought men who sought to impose new taxation at this time should do their share in no uncertain terms.

W. E. Payne, Conservative, Red
Deer, gave strong support to the Liberal amendment. He said Dr. H. W.
McGill, Conservative, Calgary, favored the original motion of Premier Brownlee.

A. M. Matheson U.F.A., Vegreville, supported the subamendment, intimating that he would go as far as to reduce indemnities to $1000 with traveling expenses for rural members.

Mr. Webster was in fine form when he threw down the gauge of battle in the income tax debate. He declared the present was not the time to impose further tax burdens on the public. The Liberal members had warned the government time after time, he said, of the need for economy and retrenchment. But the government never wanted any suggestions.

He questioned the fairness of taking away the service tax from the citizens in order that the government might impose an income tax. He was well aware, he declared, that the Premier could defend the imposition of the tax and make it sound convincing. "He makes wonderful statements," said Mr. Webster, "but then he has to make wonderful speeches to defend anything that comes from the government benches. But sometimes I wonder whether he is talking about a horse chestnut or a chestnut horse."

W. R. Howson, supporting his leader's attack on the bill, declared that in these times no new tax should be imposed if it could be avoided. "If this province can get along without putting new taxes on the people this should be done. It is a wrong principle to place an additional burden on the people when they already feel the pinch of depleted earnings," he declared.

"It is wrong to further depress the spirits of our people when they are already discouraged.
"The matter of extracting an additional $1,374,000 from the taxpayers in a manner in which it has never been done before is too serious to be done suddenly and without the most careful thought."

Mr. Howson quoted total of four successive deficits when no income tax was imposed. He did not think the tax at this time was justified. He had a feeling, he said, and it is shared by many people, that full facts of our financial position have not been made known.

For example, the Premier had told the public that this province could not go into the money market and borrow one dollar. Within a month

the money market had said to us not only will we loan you five millions,
we will loan you twenty-five millions.

Mr. Howson declared that retroactive legislation was wrong in principle; much more so was retroactive taxation. The act, he declared, provides for the payment of two years'
income taxes within 10 months for those who scrape up the cash. It means the payment of 14 years' tax as plus interest for those who cannot scrape up the cash. It means 14 years' taxes within the next fiscal year.

He declared that if the income tax
had come to stay the municipalities
should have a share in it.
The Liberal attack on the income tax bill received support from the Conservatives. D. M. Duggan opposed the bill and suggested that a better means of raising revenue would be to increase all present taxation by 7 1/2 per cent rather than impose new forms of taxation.

Other Conservative speakers also opposed the bill as did the Labor benches. Fred White moved an amendment to the effect that the proposed bill was a tax on the subsistence wages of the workers. He declared that the bill did not conform to the principles of income tax bill at all. In this contention he was supported by C. L. Gibbs, Edmonton.

Efforts on the part of provincial government to persuade the Dominion to abandon income tax field and representation to have the Dominion use its organization in collecting the provincial tax had proved unavailing, declared Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, in defending the bill.

The government motion to refer the Turner Valley gas problem to the agricultural committee met with considerable opposition, but it was finally carried after an amendment had been defeated.

George H. Webster strongly attacked the government for not having a definite scheme to lay before the house on this most important question. "They had ever since year to make up their minds to a policy. W. R. Howson also took the same stand, declaring that the Premier well knew what was wanted and the house was entitled to know what legislation was proposed before the matter was sent to the committee & a lot of experts brought in.

Premier Brownlee defended the stand of the government, declaring there had been no delay and they wanted to hear all those who were interested in the field with a view to making a satisfactory agreement with all concerned.

Emergency legislation by the provincial government to permit resident tricts to work out on public improvements a reasonable percentage of arrangers was sent to the committee and a lot of experts brought in.

At the suggestion of Premier Brownlee the discussion was adjourned in order that a resolution acceptable to all parties in the house could be submitted.

Sweepstakes under government supervision for charitable public revenues found champions in the persons of Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin, and Milton C. McKeen,
U.F.A., Lac Ste. Anne. If authorization from the Dominion were obtained it was contended there would be little or no need for levying an income tax.

Following resolution was moved by J. M. Dechene, Liberal, St. Paul:
"That this assembly urge the Dominion government to proceed with the construction of the extension of the Bonsville-St. Walburg and the Heinsburg-Frenchmen's Battle gaps
of the Canadian National railway lines from Edmonton to St. Walburg and Edmonton to Parisford."

Mr. Dechene made an eloquent plea for the northern settlers in support of his resolution. He received strong support from W. C. Farquharson, Ribstone, U.F.A., and Hugh W. Allen, U.

F.A., Grande Prairie, and also R. M.
McCool, U.F.A., Cochrane, all of whom pointed to similar conditions in their own constituencies. A. M.
Matheson, Vegreville, and D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, also gave it their blessing.

Dividing on non-party lines the house adopted a motion moved by H.
H. Dakin, Liberal, Beaver River, asking for a return covering liquor supplied free to the Liquor Control Board during the past eight years.
The return will entail weeks of labor.
There were 34 in favor of the motion and 30 against it.

As things now stand it looks as if the present session of the legislature will not end until at least the end of the month.
Since the above was written the house gave second reading to the income tax bill and voted in favor of the original government motion for a 10 per cent cut in sessional indemnities after two non-party divisions on the amendment and the subamendment. The vote on the subamendment was the closest of the present session, being 26 to 28.

Mr. Irvine Speaks on Unemployment

During the debate in the Federal House on unemployment Hansard reports Wm. Irvine, member for Wetaskiwin, as follows:

Mr. William Irvine (Wetaskiwin): Inasmuch as this question of unemployment is one of great national importance I should like the house to get a clearer understanding of just what the resolution means. I do not rise to give that explanation myself because I am not clear on that point but we ought to understand that it means before we vote upon it. I think the mover of the resolution (Mr. Heaps) has not taken the house entirely into his confidence in his exposition of the resolution.

Everyone will agree with the first statement of the resolution, that there are great numbers of our citizens at present unemployed and that through their unemployment their very existence is made precarious. We will also agree with the further statement that during recent years production has increased enormously. I was reading only this afternoon in the report of the MacMillan committee that production throughout the entire world had increased since 1914 by 25 per cent. So there cannot be much doubt about that. The next statement in the resolution is this:

Whereas real wages have not increased in proportion and thus consumption has not kept pace with production.

Of course, it is simply another truth to say that consumption has not kept pace with production, for the reason that wages have not increased in proportion with the increase in production.

Now I come to the declaratory part of the resolution:

Be it resolved: That, in the opinion of this house, in order to absorb the unemployed into industry, thus eliminating the enormous waste of enforced idleness, the hours of labor be materially reduced and the purchasing power of the masses increased, and further to this end that the government be requested to submit the necessary measures to the house.

Let us look at what that means. If it merely means what has been the policy of the organized Labor movement of Canada for many years, in respect to wages, then it means nothing. That policy has been and is that the wages of labourers can and should be increased, in the vain hope that in doing so the standard of living and purchasing power will be increased. But here is the problem: We are operating under a profit system, and under a profit system an increase of wages must necessarily mean a corresponding increase in the price of commodities in the production of which wages are paid; so that ultimately an increase in wages must be balanced by an increase in prices, except in the case of overhead savings through improved organization or improved machinery, with such savings going to wages instead of to cheaper goods. To ask for wage increases or hour reduction under a profit system is to work around in a circle. That has been the weakness of the policy of labour ever since I knew anything about it. Even strikes never got labour anywhere, because it was not possible to have a real increase in wages under a profit system since wage increases were invariably offset by an increase in the price of commodities.

If it means that there must be a reduction of the hours of labour and an increase in pay under the present profit system, then it is impossible. If then the resolution means anything it means that we are asked to introduce a new system. That is what the hon. member for North Winnipeg (Mr. Heaps) must have in mind, and if so he is not following his usual frank way of dealing with things if he does not say so. He asks the house to introduce legislation as quickly as possible to implement this resolution. I would like to know what that means. Is it that the government should introduce by legislation a new economic system in Canada? That means, if it means anything, that the government must first nationalize the industrial system in this country. If the resolution means that, I will vote for it because I have always stood for that; I like it. If it does not mean that, it does not mean anything and I would not be bothered voting for it. I would like somebody to explain just exactly what this resolution means. If it stands for a new system, which if it means anything it must mean, I would like to vote for it. It stands for the old impossible system of increasing wages and shortening hours and increasing prices, the thing is ridiculous. Now will somebody explain?

COMMON CONDITION

It is reported that the little village of Leavitt has actually lost 1300 people from its population during the last thirty years. This simply means that the growing population, the youngsters of the community have had to go out from home to obtain employment or an occupation elsewhere. The total population of Leavitt has been practically the same as it is today for the last thirty years, namely at about 200 souls. To think of the loss to this one community of all its young manhood and womanhood year after year going into other towns and districts for a livelihood is a very serious matter.

More serious still does it become when you realize that the history of Leavitt in this particular is the history of every other community including Cardston in the whole countryside.

Furthermore, it is the history of Canada. This country for years has been educating its young people only to lose them to United States and other parts of the world where they have gone to get employment and engage in industry. Never before, until the terrible effects of this depression rests so heavily upon us, have we been able to get people to see the economic folly of forcing our young people to seek employment elsewhere. Right in Cardston and the surrounding countryside, more than 1,000 young people are going to be through school and ready to enter industrial life within the next five years, and if we do not do something about it we are going to lose these 1,000 young people. And they are fine young people, too. Bright, keenly alert, capable fellows for the most part, and young women, the superior of whom cannot be found in any land. What are we going to do for them, beside educate them? Are we going to drift along as usual and lose them all as the years go by?

The point is that by concerted effort something really might be done about this problem. Some industry or factory could be started right in Cardston which would absorb a good share of the young people of the town. Capital seems to be the main need in establishing a number of such industries as might prosper in this community. Surely there are 40 or 50 men in the town who could find from $100 to $500 each towards some community project which would be the nucleus of an industrial expansion here which would solve the unemployment problem permanently in this community. Already, we understand, some committee work is being done along this project, and we are heartily behind such a move.

Weekly Garden Letter

Paper Mulch

Paper mulch in the vegetable garden is now passed the experimental stage, and is being obtained at both private and Government places would indicate that under certain conditions this new method of hurrying growth has some decided advantages. The paper is quite similar to the ordinary black building kind, though it is tougher, so that it will stand a fair amount of traffic and weathering. It may be obtained from practically any seedman in different widths to suit the particular vegetable being grown. After the soil is thoroughly prepared for seeding, the paper is fastened down with long, home-made staples of cheap black wire, between the rows, with an inch or so of space between strips for the seed. In the case of tomatoes, cabbage, and other plants, these are inserted in holes punched in the paper, and the vegetables planted in hills are handled in the same way. This mulch not only keeps down practically all weed growth but it also heats up the soil and stimulates very quick and very early growth. Anyone who has laid his hand on a tarp-paper roof when the sun is shining will understand the principle upon which this new method of gardening is based. After early crops of peas, spinach and head lettuce have been used, later things may be brought on while the paper is in place.

Sweet Peas

Most of the difficulty in growing good sweet peas is due to late planting. For best, or even satisfactory results, these flowers must be sown just as early in the spring as it is possible to dig the ground. In most parts of the country, this will mean March or early April. The very finest blooms are produced in those sections of Canada where the ground is high and the nights cool, although with the proper method this flower may be grown almost anywhere. It must make its growth during the early cool weather and the root system must go down deep into the soil. Dig a trench about a foot wide and two feet deep and into this put a six-inch layer of decayed leaves, well-rotted manure or other material, and on top two inches of fine garden soil. The seed is planted in this, about three inches apart and an inch deep, and as growth starts the trench is gradually filled in. In order to encourage a "strong" deep root development, at least three feet of climbing support in the form of brush, strings, or poultry netting should be provided. Soak thoroughly in water during dry weather, and it is a good thing to give one application of liquid manure, or garden commercial fertilizer, dissolved in water, during the early stages of growth. Blooming should start in July, and if one wants to have this continue until frost, pick the flowers daily, making absolutely sure that no seed pods are allowed to develop.

Seed

Seed is the very foundation of good gardens, and about the only factor over which the owner has absolute control. As the cost in any case is but a few cents there should be no temptation to sacrifice quality, but only the very best should be used, and this obtained from Canadian sources in order that one gets seed selected with Canadian conditions in mind. The use of seed saved from the home garden cannot be recommended, as this is almost sure to be very mixed. Unless one goes to the trouble of screening individual flowers from bees and insects, and cross-pollinating, it is absolutely impossible to prevent mixing of colors in flowers and of types in vegetables. Then, too, in order to secure earliness and quality, it is often necessary that seed be secured from a district where the season is much longer than our own.

Lawn Repairs

Early spring is the proper time to attend to the bare spots in the lawn. One can sometimes re-seed these by sowing during one of the last snow storms. In this case, no cultivation is used, the melting snow carrying the seed into the soil. If we leave the work until later, we should stir up the bare spots thoroughly, and cover with a bit of brush or poultry netting to keep the birds away. At this time, too, an application of good commercial fertilizer will act as a spring tonic. Most of the trouble with weeds in a lawn traces to starved conditions. Good healthy well-fed grass will crowd out most weeds, but the other kind is not in a position to offer much resistance.

ERRORS THAT SLINK PAST

A certain percentage of the grey hairs that sprout each day on the editorial cranium are, no doubt, caused by the errors that slink past the copy desk and pop up in all their ugliness in the day's edition. They seem to slip through the finest editorial fine comb, and though the result is sometimes appalling quite often it is comical enough to bring a grin even to the face of the harried editor.

Stewart Harral, director of publications of Southeastern State Teachers' College, has collected some of the more hilarious of such mistakes, which are printed in the December issue of "The Quill" organ of Sigma Delta Chi. Here they are:

"If you join the endowment association three months before marriage or birth, you will have three times as much money for the occasion."

"The cashiers bring the offering forward, the congregation will rise and sing."

"For the less informal interior straight hanging unlined draw curtains are helpful in creating an atmosphere of intimate hospitality."

"Two hundred dollars were left to Pen. Asylum for Indigent Widows and Single Women."

"Young Lady—Eighteen years old as beginner in respectable office or otherwise."

"Operatives of the stolen car department were ordered Tuesday to pick up a green roadster driven by a good looking blonde with a new model chassis."

"The will disposes of a million dollar estate, the bank going to relatives."

"Mr. Kelly said he fired at Jones when he believed the young man was starting toward him with a wife."

"All last winter he slept in a bed with his lower extremities perched ten inches above his head, to hoist up a sagging stomach."

"Miss Bessie Blank, a Bismarck belle of twenty summers, is visiting her twin brother, aged thirty-two."

"Records reveal that he spent 40 days in jail last January."

"In making Swiss steak, add the salt and pepper to the floor, before pounding the meat."

CROOKED LAKE

(Intended for last week)

One of the earliest settlers of the Crooked Lake district, Mrs. Amelia Eames, was called to her heavenly home on Saturday, March 8th, at the age of seventy-two years. Five months and twenty-five days, Mrs. Eames was born in Saffshire, England, and came to Detroit, Minn., in 1880. She was united in marriage to Philip Eames, and they made their home on a farm until 1900, when they moved to Canada and located a new home on a homestead.

The deceased had been a great sufferer, but it was not until the last five weeks that she was confined to her bed. She was a loving mother, and leaves to mourn her loss a husband, two daughters, namely, Mrs. Martin Peterson and Hazel Turquist, two grandchildren and a large circle of friends.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, March 7th, services being conducted in the Anglican Church, Bittern Lake, by Rev. Hovcroft. Interment took place in the Bittern Lake cemetery.

The pall bearers were Messrs. J. H. Lyle, C. M. Rice, C. M. Turquist, F. Chambers, R. T. Chambers and C. Denton.

The floral tributes were received from the following: The Family, the Grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hovcroft, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. C. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. F. WINFIELD U.F.A.

The Mad March party given by the U.F.A. at Dr. Burdick's mill on Saturday night was even more of a success than was expected, a large and jolly crowd being in attendance. Games, amusing races, impromptu speeches, card tricks, sleight of hand, dancing and singing, all adding to the amusement. Some remarkably laughable positions were worn, every one enjoying something to fit the occasion. The work of getting the logs out-for the U.F.A. hall has been rushed lately, to get all the logs possible into the mill before the snow left, and also before the mill closed. The following have donated their time so far: Syd. Handbury, Archie Alwood, Geo. Shrigley, Lester and Eugene Francis, all with teams; as well as H. E. Francis, Lionel Shamp, Cliff Ford and Rudolph Skogman and Andrew Johnson in the woods and at the mill.

20 YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

Then Mrs. Duke Discovered Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Of her own accord, Mrs. Duke sat down and wrote us a glowing tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. "I have been constipated all my life, which has been about 20 years up until last year when I started eating your ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating it, people tell me I am looking better, and I am sure that I feel a great deal better." Mrs. L. W. Duke (address upon request).

Constipation is usually caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides both of these dietary necessities, as well as iron for the blood.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more natural it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Just eat two tablespoons daily—serious cases with every meal—for most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package, Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

WEEKLY STOCK MARKET REPORT

The following is a report of the Edmonton Stock Yards as supplied to The Times for the week ending March 22nd:

Receipts: Cattle, 756; Calves, 159; Hogs, 2271; Sheep, 124.

So far this week the market as a whole has been showing only fair action, as buyers are none too keen in their demands. Prices on medium and in between kinds of cattle remain about steady and unchanged. The better grades, especially heavies, are showing a lower tendency, especially steers. The following are the prices:

Good to choice fed calves $5.00 to $5.50; mediums $4.00 to $4.75. The general run of good butcher steers $4.50 to $4.75; mediums $4.00 to $4.25; fair kinds $3.50 to $3.75 and common to fair $2.50 to $3.50. Good handweight butcher heifers $4.50 to $4.75; mediums $3.75 to $4.25; good heavies $3.50 to $3.75 and common to fair $2.50 to $3.25. The general run of good butcher cows $3.00 to $3.25; choice light kinds up to $3.50; common to medium $2.00 to $2.75; canners and cutters $1.00 to $1.75. Bulls $1.75 to $2.25.

There is a good demand for all classes of stockers, especially lightweights. Prices remain fairly steady with last week's close, with the general run of stocker steers and heifers at $3.25 to $4.00, stocker cows $2.25 to $2.75, and exceptionally breedy kinds up to $3.00.

Calf market 50c to $1.00 lower, with common light calves decidedly hard to move. The general run of good light yearlings $5.50 to $6.00, mediums $4.50 to $5.00 and common to fair $3.50 to $4.00.

Hog market is unsettled, with very few arrivals. Today, Tuesday, trucked in sold at $3.65 for the bacon. Selects bringing a premium of 50c per hundred and butchers discounted 50c per hundred. Note new cuts on the off grade hogs which came into effect on March 22nd: Heavies discounted 75c per hundred; extras $1.00 per hundred; No. 1 sows $1.00 per hundred; No. 1 other sows $1.25 per hundred; roughs $1.50 per hundred; stags 2.00 per hundred. Lambs are showing a stronger undertone. Balance of sheep prices steady. Good light lambs selling up to $5.50; the general run of offerings from $4.75 to $5.25; yearlings $3.50 to $4.00 and ewes $2.50 to $3.50.

March 25th, being Good Friday, the Exchange directors have declared a holiday on that day.

The twenty-second annual convention of Alberta teachers will be held in the Central United Church, Calgary, on March 29-30-31.

WETASKIWIN MEMBER GIVES ADDRESS ON INCOME TAX BILL

I will endeavor to place before the House in the clearest way possible my reasons for opposing the imposition of an Income Tax at the present time, and also point out some of the objectionable features of the proposed Bill.

It is an inopportune time in which to impose any new taxation. The people of Alberta are now struggling with too heavy a load of taxation and cannot, nor should they be asked, to assume any further obligations in this respect. The farmers certainly cannot stand any increased taxation. They are in the fortunate position of having no debenture liabilities, but their Municipal and School obligations and Supplementary Revenue Tax are their chief burdens of direct taxation and must not be increased.

The residents of our villages, towns and cities on the other hand, have immense capital or debenture obligations, and the amount required to finance their schools, hospitals, social services, relief, municipal and capital charges constitute a taxation burden of very large proportions. These obligations are mounting yearly and in many instances the mill rate is gradually increasing on an assessment valuation generally beyond all proportion to actual values. It would be manifestly unfair to impose any new provincial taxation on them at this time.

The proposed taxation is based on last year's income, which in many cases is much larger than that being earned this year. Many with a taxable income last year are now unemployed, yet they will be asked to pay an income tax this year. Many who will be hit by an income tax are caring for members of their families, or others who are now out of work, thus increasing their own living expenses but getting no exemption for this expenditure, notwithstanding the fact that they are saving the Province its share of relief it would be called upon to bear if their homes were not open for unemployed friends.

Owing to the low schedule of exemption which provides for taxing incomes over $750 for single and $1500 for married persons, with $400 allowed for each dependent, it constitutes practically a tax on wages that is as most unfair or unjust principle at this or any other time. The Dominion schedule is much fairer and should be followed if an income tax is imposed.

Then it is dual taxation, as the Dominion Government now levies an income tax and all dual taxation is unfair and unjust. If by reason of their strength in this House this Government forces through an income tax measure, I would suggest that they leave our farmers with the Dominion authorities to collect whatever rate is decided upon, but following the Dominion schedule of exemption. This will save us a large sum in administering the Act.

It should not be necessary at this time to impose an income tax. This is estimated to bring in a revenue of $174,000.00. My advice is to cut still deeper, effect greater economies and reduce expenditure in every department. The Government has already proposed to increase some of the existing forms of taxation which will provide considerably more revenue. Some of the leaks in the ship of state should be plugged up. The budget can be balanced without an income tax. If this Government has not the courage to do these things, if they will abdicate in favor of the opposition, we will show them how it can be done.

I have already suggested that we should get more revenue from our natural resources by an increase in fees and royalties, and I now reiterate that suggestion. These resources belong to the people of Alberta, who should share equally in their development. Last year the Province received revenue of $1,125,000 from the Lands and Mines Department. If this amount could be doubled, this one item alone would avoid the necessity of an income tax.

Last year I urged on the Government a change in their highway policy. I suggested that our Public Debt had almost reached the limit we should pay as we went. The policy of building gravelled roads paralleling railroads should be changed so as to provide market roads to serve districts having no railway facilities and in order to do this I would favor an increase in the gasoline tax to provide for a reasonable yearly program. If the Minister of Public Works decides to adopt this policy he will have my hearty support.

Another most objectionable feature in the proposed Income Tax Bill is the addition of a 12 1/2% tax which must be paid in addition to the income tax levy. It is unjust, unfair and discriminatory and introduces a dangerous and indefensible principle by which those with small incomes pay a larger percentage than those fortunate enough to have large incomes. For instance, a single person earning a salary of $800 would pay a tax of 50c, plus this base tax of $3.00, a total of $3.50, or 7% on the taxable income of $50.00. A single person earning $2750.00 per year would pay a tax of $20.00 plus $3.00 base tax, a total of $23.00 or 1.15% on the taxable income of $2000.00. Nothing could be more unfair or unjust than this. If this principle is adopted it can be applied to almost every form of taxation and some day we may find ourselves being asked for a base tax in addition to our automobile license, drivers' permit or license. Where might it, not end?

As Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge now impose a service tax, which is virtually an income tax, this Government proposes to take away this right from these places and for two years at least will pay to them annually a sum equal to the revenue they now derive from this source. In other words they propose to take from the proceeds of the Income Tax which will be collected in the Wetaskiwin Constituency and other places throughout the Province and pay over to Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge the sum of approximately $120,000.00 per year to help reduce taxation in these cities. Of all the unjust and vicious proposals this certainly takes the cake. I am going to object most strenuously to having the proceeds of taxation which is levied and collected from all over Alberta, used for any other than provincial purposes, and will oppose this proposal with all the strength I can command.

Present conditions are such that to impose any new taxation would do infinitely more harm than a strict economy program.

Had the Government displayed insight and foresight in the face of conditions with which they were confronted, the drastic measures they are now taking to balance revenue and expenditure would not be necessary. The depression started over two years ago. In private business everything possible was being done to keep costs down. Yet this Government has only now begun to reduce expenditure and adjust its finances. Last year they spent $732,000.00 more than they were authorized to do, making the total expenditure the highest in the history of the province.

There is a large source of revenue that could be made available to the Province if the Government would take the necessary steps to legalize sweepstakes. The principle of taking a portion of money spent in gambling for Provincial purposes is already accepted, and each year those who bet on horse races conducted in the province contribute a large sum to our treasury. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are sent out of this country yearly to Dublin, Calcutta and other European countries where sweepstakes are conducted, and we cannot stop this outflow by legislation. Sweepstakes could be held here under government control, regulation and supervision, and the proceeds used for hospitals, relief, Red Cross and other charitable purposes. Many who would not donate to charity would take a chance and thus help charity in an attempt to help themselves. Experience proves that there are vast sums available at all times for sweeps, and the whole matter should not lightly be disregarded.

The time has arrived when there should be a complete investigation into our whole taxation system. Conditions have materially changed during the last few years. The Dominion needs immense revenues. The Province has reached the point where it finds itself compelled to curtail services and withdraw financial assistance previously given. Municipalities hardly know where to turn to secure funds with which to meet increasing obligations. The fixing of responsibility for carrying on services and the right of various governing bodies to levy different forms of taxation, or a division of the fields of taxation should be undertaken at this time.

The Province already has an assessment commission doing excellent work, and I would suggest that we also constitute a Tax Commission. The cost would be very little, if any more, and their information and advice after a thorough study of all taxation matters would be of inestimable value to this Legislature.

STOP AND THINK

Health is a precious possession but it is one which most people do not appreciate until they are threatened with its loss. We seldom consider just how much good health means to us. We rather take good health for granted, and seldom make any real effort to improve it or to keep it until we are faced with losing it.

It is not desirable to spend all our time thinking about health. We know that a nuisance the health crank is, and how irritating is the person who always wants to tell us about his pains and aches. It is, however, equally foolish to ignore health entirely, and to disregard symptoms of abnormal conditions of the body.

What we should strive for is the happy medium which avoids extremes. Health should receive a reasonable amount of attention and consideration. Without becoming food faddists it is well for us to put into practice certain principles with regard to what we eat.

We are practically unaware of our body functions as long as they go on normally. We should realize, therefore, that when discomfort is felt or where there are signs of unusual occurrences, while there is no need for alarm, still it is foolish to disregard them. The body has considerable reserve strength and ability to adjust itself to changing conditions, but it is a mistake to call upon reserves unless this is necessary. It is much better to help than exhaust nature.

It is surprising how many people will go on day after day ignoring conditions which clearly indicate that there is something wrong, that nature requires assistance. Persistent coughs are overlooked, progressive loss of weight is not given attention, unusual fatigue is not investigated, and thus it is that many cases present themselves to their doctor with a well advanced tuberculosis.

There is always some cause for what is called indigestion. If this persists or recurs, it means that whatever condition is responsible continues to be present. Lumps do not occur in the normal female breast; unusual discharges do not come from the normal body; ordinary sores heal and do not break down again.

It is because such happenings as these do not receive prompt attention that cancer is allowed to develop beyond the stage at which it can be cured. While they are not always signs of cancer, still the patient need tell whether they are or not. There is only one safe way to act, and that is to find out from the doctor, in every case, what is the true nature of the condition.

Reasonable attention is required if health is to be preserved. If treatment is to be secured when it can do the most good, attention must be given to any signs or symptoms of abnormal conditions by letter.

Sonny—Dad, was that bottle of red ink you bought very dear?
Dad—No, not very.

At the "500" party held last Tuesday evening in the schoolhouse honours were won by Mrs. Scharf, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. Dickinson and F. Atkins.

A most enjoyable time was had by all present at the social held in the schoolhouse, last Friday evening. Games and contests in which old and young took part, including the making of an "Irish Pig," caused lots of merriment.

The United Church service will be held in the schoolhouse every second and fourth Sunday of each month instead of the first and third. This change was found necessary on account of the west appointments.

HILLSIDE U.F.A.

The regular monthly meeting was held in the school house on March 10th, there being a good turnout of members.

A letter was read from the Junior U.F.A. local challenging the seniors to a debate on the subject, Resolved: "The newspapers are a menace to society." The seniors accepted the challenge, and decided to uphold the affirmative. We expect this debate will be held on Friday, April 8th.

A social evening was held in the school house on Friday, March 18th, the program for the evening having a decided Irish touch. Much credit is due to the committee for the success of the evening.

BAWL FARMER HAS ONLY MANX CALF IN WORLD

Believe it or not, R. C. Reinhardt, well known Bawlf farmer, has the only Manx calf in existence.

The calf was born a few days ago and has not even the vestige of a tail. It is as tailless as any Manx cat and for that reason Reinhardt says it's a Manx calf. The animal is healthy and perfect in every other way.

"But I don't know what it's going to use as a fly switch in the summer," said Reinhardt. "Maybe I'll have to equip it with a fly swatter."

COST OF PRODUCTION FACTORS

Present economic conditions make it necessary for the livestock farmer to produce milk, beef, pork and mutton at the lowest possible cost. Low production costs are only obtained by the judicious use of feed and labor as well as by the owning of stock capable of producing economically when given the opportunity.

Many factors enter into the costs of

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, tosses and seems unable to sleep restfully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To get rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made specially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation, contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring related comfort and restful sleep to your baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

LIBRARY NOTES

A number of very fine books by John Buchan may be found in the library, such as "The Runagate Club," "The Dancing Floor," "John MacNab," and "Greenmantle." The Runagate Club tells how a London dining-club was formed, just after the close of the war, by a few people who had been leading queer lives and wanted to keep together. It became the fashion, once a month, for a member to entertain the company with a story. This book is a collection of some of the stories told.

"Queen Victoria" by Lytton Strachey. This book was recently recommended by the Duke of York.

"Mr. Blitsworthy on Rampole Island," by H. G. Wells. Being the story of a gentleman of culture and refinement who suffered shipwreck and saw no human beings other than cruel and savage cannibals for several years. How he at last escaped in a strange manner from the horror and barbarities of Rampole Island in time to fight in the Great War, and how afterwards he came near to returning to the island forever.

"The Black Light," by Talbot Mundy. The scene of this story is laid in India. It leads us by breathless ways into the precincts of a Hindu temple, wherein mysteries occur that suggest to the reader new interpretations of a number of well known scientific facts.
